王 · SE-JONG · THE KING

Se-Jong is named after Sejong the Great, the greatest Korean king, who created the Korean alphabet in 1443 and was also a noted meteorologist. The diagram 王 stands for the king, and the 24 movements for the 24 letters of the Korean alphabet. You start in close ready stance B in the middle of the A–B line facing D: a low block to B, a twin forearm block toward A and a side kick toward D; a rising block and knife-hand strike on the E–F line; a jump into X-stance onto the G–H line, with a punch, a high guarding block in fixed stance, a fingertip thrust and a back fist; a scooping block, turning kick and jump back onto the E–F line; slow fist extension and back fist in sitting stance, palm and arc-hand blocks, one-leg blocks and a back forearm strike; then a side elbow thrust, a guarding block and a punch back on the A–B line.

READING THE FOOTPRINTS

Gunnun sogi · walking stance. About 1½ shoulder widths long and one wide, front knee bent over the heel, rear leg straight. Named by the front foot.

Gojung sogi · fixed stance. Like the L-stance but a little longer, weight even on both legs. Named by the front foot.

Annun sogi · sitting stance. Feet parallel, about 1½ shoulder widths apart, knees bent and pushed out, weight even.

Sasun sogi · diagonal stance. A sitting stance with one foot about half a foot ahead of the other. Named by the front foot; drawn as the sitting stance.

Kyocha sogi · X-stance. One foot crossed behind the other, resting on its ball; usually after a jump.

Waebal sogi · one-leg stance. Stand on the red leg, the other foot drawn up to the side of its knee joint. Named by the standing leg.

Red foot leads; the blue tick is the direction you face. Walking-stance chips are filled; L-stance chips have a double outline. Directions are the ITF letters: you start facing D, with B on your left and A on your right.

PRACTICE NOTES
